Just to prove it really happened, Edward T. Meyer makes a July snowball from a drift of softened hail that fell near his home in Cleveland. Temperatures dropped to 54 in Cleveland and to 33 at Land O' Lakes, Wis., during freak summer storm over the midwest. (NEA Telephoto)

Cedar Point, Md., July 24 (AP)—Authorities at the Navy's Patuxent river air station said today they had turned a 22-year-old seaman over to civil authorities on a warrant charging him with the murder of Mrs. Julia Katona, 35, wife of a navy officer, after a penny-ante poker party at her home near Tall Timbers, Md.

Cmdr. C. S. Minter, director of public information at the air base, identified the seaman as Joseph Daniel Brouillette, 22, son of Mrs. Rose Marie Brouillette of Manchester, N. H.

Mrs. Maria Kolbert, 76, of the Bronx was killed and her husband, Frederick Kolbert, 67, injured about the chest when their car left the road at New Baltimore on Route 9W yesterday after a tire blow. Both passengers, en route to an upstate vacation, were thrown 50 feet to a gully when the right front tire blew.

Mrs. Kolbert was dead on arrival at Catskill Memorial Hospital and Mr. Kolbert walked from the scene, then collapsed and was sent to the hospital. Sergeant Frank E. Hinch and Corporal Fred Knight of the Greene county station investigated. Coroner Alton P. Daley of Athens gave a verdict of accidental death.

Li. Hurst Says Executive

Court, Martial

New York, July 24 (AP)—A 29-year-old lieutenant told a navy court martial board today that the executive officers of an American prisoner of war group in the Philippines, warned Harold E. Hirshberg that they would make every effort to have him court martialed unless he stopped informing on his fellow prisoners.

The witness was Lt. (j.g.) Thomas B. Hurst, of (6712 South Bell St.) Takoma, Wash. He testified for the prosecution at the third day of the trial of Hirshberg, a 29-year-old navy chief signalman accused of mistreating American prisoners under his jurisdiction.

Hurst said that in April, 1942, while he was a prisoner of the Japanese at Nicolson Field, Luzon, he and other ranking Americans held a meeting and brought Hirshberg before them.

The witness said that at the time was a chief signalman and headed a work group of fellow prisoners. Hirshberg had a similar position under the Japanese—a post which witnesses said he abused by striking his fellow prisoners on their heads and shoulders and by beating them.

Hurst said he and the other leaders told Hirshberg that unless he stopped running to the Japanese with stories about the men all of the leaders—if they survived their prison ordeal—would ask the navy to court martial him when they returned to the United States.

The witness added that Hirshberg replied: "I'm not afraid of anything when I get back."

Hurst described the defendant as "definitely a driver, trying to impress the Japs and to accomplish more than the other section leaders."

Whenever Hirshberg drove his section men hard, Hurst said, the Japanese would reward him with special favors and gifts of cigarettes and candy.

Hurst also told the court that

General Strike Halts
All Banks, Business
Places

San Jose, Costa Rica, July 24 (AP)—National police, reinforced by 2,000 special deputies, appeared today to have restored order in San Jose and other Costa Rican cities following a series of bitter political clashes and street fights in which at least five persons were killed and 59 wounded.

Business and transportation in this capital city however, remained virtually paralyzed by a general strike called by opposition leaders, which closed all banks and commercial establishments.

(Reports from neighboring Guatemala asserted that a state of open revolt actually existed in Costa Rica, but informed sources in Panama expressed doubt that there had been any attempt at an organized rebellion. Most of the casualties, the Panama sources said, were unarmed student demonstrators who were struck by police gunfire.)

The strike was denounced by the Costa Rican cabinet, headed by Otilio Ulate, newspaper publisher and leader of the opposition party, who has charged the government with restrictive measures in the current presidential campaign, in which he is a candidate.

The cabinet gave a vote of confidence to President Teodoro Picado, who said he would maintain order at any cost.

(It was reported in Balboa, Panama Canal zone, that the Costa Rican government had imposed martial law and Pan American Airways in Balboa said last night that all its flights in and out of San Jose had been cancelled.)

The disturbances here began last Saturday with a street battle between opposing political factions. Violence continued Sunday, when oppositionists hurled stones through windows and fought with police squads called out to disperse them.

Sporadic violence, accompanied by bursts of shooting, continued in San Jose and other places. Police yesterday when opposition seemed to have brought the situation under control.

The strike here, patterned on the American "sitdown" was called in sympathy with a similar work stoppage, which followed clashes yesterday when police opposed political groups. University and secondary school students joined the strike yesterday.

Civilian authorities declined any comment on the case.

Medical Examiner F. F. Greenwald said the wife of Navy Lieutenant Frank Katona, 37, had met "death by strangulation" early yesterday.

Greenwald said finger marks were clearly visible about her neck and "there were also bruises on her head, face and shoulders."

Dr. Greenwald said he had not determined whether she had been raped.

Police sought to reconstruct the five-hour period after a neighborhood card game broke up at 11.30 p. m., Tuesday at the Katona cottage here in this summer settlement near the mouth of the Potomac river.

Died at 6 a. m.
Mrs. Katona apparently died at 5 a. m., twelve hours before her nude body was found yesterday afternoon by her husband, Greenwald said.

Deputy Sheriff J. Lester Tippens said Lt. Katona, a flight engineer, returned from a 24-hour tour of duty at Patuxent Naval Air Station to be met at the village store by his son Barry, 8.

Barry said that he and his twin sister, Bonnie Joy, had not seen their mother since Tuesday night. They had been seeking "Mommy."

Gun-Toter Is Arrested
Soon After Truman Visit

Washington, July 24 (AP)—The arrest of another gun toter at the capitol—just after President Truman's surprise Senate visit—prompted fresh talk today of tightening congressional security.

But the second incident of its kind in 10 days found lawmakers still wondering what can be done.

The latest episode occurred yesterday when capitol police seized an armed former serviceman in a men's wash room in the Senate wing of the capitol.

Scarcely five minutes before Mr. Truman had left the building after making an unannounced visit and a brief speech to the Senate, where he once was a member.

The Washington is off a corridor through which the President walked on his way to the Senate chamber, one flight up.

Washington, July 24 (AP)—Republican congressional leaders decided today to adjourn the first session of the 80th Congress on Saturday, July 26, subject to possible recall by Republican leaders.

The decision was made at a meeting of Senate and House leaders in the office of House Speaker Martin.

Under the proposal agreed on, Congress can be recalled during the fall adjournment period.

U. S.-Russian Split
May Destroy Unity,
May Delay Peace

Question Before Leaders
Is Whether to Work
Out Separate
Peace

BY JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

Washington, July 24 (AP)—A new split between the United States and Russia—this time over drafting a Japanese peace treaty—threatens today to destroy what little unity remains between the great powers.

Another prospect is that it may delay indefinitely work on a peace settlement for Japan.

Up to this week there has been considerable hope here that Washington and Moscow would be able to devise some means for fashioning the Japanese peace treaty which would eliminate many of the frictions that have beset peace making in Europe.

Russia's rejection yesterday of American proposals along this line greatly dimmed, if it did not kill off, these hopes.

Some officials said the major question now facing the American and other governments interested in early progress on the Far East peace settlement is whether they should go ahead with a "separate peace"—that is, a treaty without Russia.

But there is a question whether this could be done legally.

While an interpretation remains to be worked out, some authorities recalled that as early as the United Nations declaration of January, 1942, the United States, Britain, Russia and other major nations at war with the axis pledged themselves "not to make a separate armistice or peace with the enemies."

Russia was not then at war with Japan, so it is a question whether the pledge would be considered legally binding in the present situation.

The Soviet reaction to American proposals for beginning work on a Japanese treaty August 13 was announced yesterday by the Moscow radio.

The United States had proposed July 11 that 11 nations, including the great powers, should meet at Washington or San Francisco to organize the treaty drafting. A major point of the proposal was that the nations work under a system of decisions by two-thirds vote—a procedure which would deny any one nation the right of veto.

Radical Departure
This marked a radical departure from the German and other European treaty making procedures in two respects. It included nations other than the great powers and it denied the veto privilege.

In rejecting the proposal, the Soviets did not comment specifically on these two points. Instead, they contended writing of the Japanese peace treaty should follow the pattern of the European treaties and that the United States acted "unilaterally" by initiating proposals for a Japanese peace conference without going through Council of Foreign Ministers channels.

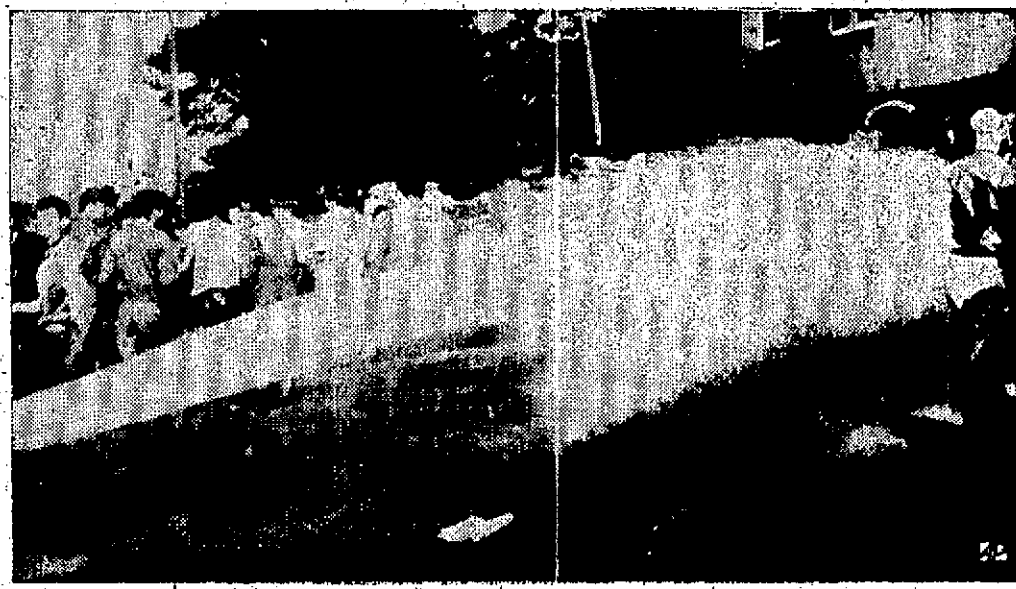

American officials, though they declined formal comment pending actual receipt here of the Russian reply, flatly rejected the Kremlin's arguments. They contended that no procedures had been determined for work on a Japanese peace treaty and that particularly the Potsdam agreement between President Truman, Premier Stalin and Prime Minister Acheson creating the Foreign Ministers Council did not require that the Council have jurisdiction over peace making in the Pacific.

Secretary of State Marshall told reporters yesterday that the United States will have to decide its future position in the light of the Russian response and the replies of the other countries.

Aside from the Russian objection, the Russian objection

Rain Halts Crops
And Slows Resorts

This Month Has Been Wetter Than June,
Records Show

These two recent sunny days mark the end of nine discouragingly rainy days which robbed the middle of the month of important sunshine, caused considerable crop damage and affected business in area resort communities.

It has been wetter to date this month than all of June, according to records at the city engineer's office, and starting on July 14 the region had five consecutive days of rain. It rained July 5, 6, 8 and 22nd for a total to date this month of 4.4 inches.

Damage to crops in the county because of the heavy rainfall is believed to be considerable although full official reports are not completed.

It was learned today, however, that area farmers have experienced heavy losses in hay crops and that the raspberry, current and cherry crops have been affected. Some damage was also reported to corn crops, but this is believed not to be as widespread as surrounding areas.

Changes in Staff Are Made;
Summer Sanitary
Aides Named

The monthly report of the County of Ulster Department of Health for the month of June has been released in which the activities of the department for the month are reviewed.

On June 16 W. Allen Longshore, Jr., M.D., M.P.H., began his duties as deputy commissioner. Other changes in the staff include the resignation of Miss Marion G. Casey, apprentice public health nurse who resigned as of June 30. Miss Kathleen Shurtz, Kingston city school nurse, has been added to the staff for the summer and will work in Lloyd and Plattkill. Miss Rosemary Doyle has been employed as secretary at the Tuberculosis Hospital. Miss Amy D. Anderson has been employed as stenographer.

Several camp sanitary aides have been added to the staff as temporary summer employees. These added are John C. Braun, Joseph C. Mikesh, Stephen G. Hyatt, DeWitt F. Wells, Raymond H. Rignall, Carleton E. Taylor, Herbert C. Friester and Leo J. Doheny, teachers in the city's public schools who are employed during the summer months by the department.

During June several reports of rabid foxes in the towns of Callicoon and Rockland in Sullivan county and in the town of Middleburg in Schoharie county, were received. Both those counties have embarked on a voluntary dog vaccination program as have about 25 other counties in the state. Such a program, however, is not advised for Ulster until the first rabid animal is discovered. Rabid foxes may be expected to follow the several river valleys from the infected counties to Ulster and Ulster may eventually be required to begin vaccinating dogs. The epidemic has been found in dogs and foxes in western New York and in the area surrounding New York for the past three years but immunization of dogs in adjoining towns has formed a barrier for surrounding areas.

Republicans Say They

Semarang, North
Java Port

Batavia, Java, July 24 (AP)—Cheribon, important northwest Java port, has fallen to a Dutch tank attack, but Indonesian Republicans declared today they had turned back a strong Dutch drive on their capital of Jogjakarta and now were closing in on the north Java port of Semarang.

A Dutch army communiqué announced the capture of Cheribon. The Indonesian radio said the Dutch used a striking force of 50 tanks in an assault yesterday afternoon against the port, birthplace of the Indonesian independence movement. These forces, the broadcast said, bypassed Soemadang and Kadipaten.

An Indonesian army communiqué said Republican forces in the east-central sector had seized Modjokerto, on the outer rim of the Dutch perimeter around the once-powerful naval base of Soerabaja. This was one of the areas held by the Dutch before the outbreak of hostilities Sunday. Modjokerto is 28 miles southwest of Soerabaja.

The Modjokerto action apparently was an attempt by the Republicans to harass Dutch forces driving on the stronghold of Malang. The Indonesian communiqué said the drive had been halted 35 miles southeast of the city.

Indonesian news reports said the Dutch had withdrawn more than 10 miles and that Tentang, Continued on Page Seventeen

Dozen Big Bills Are Headed
For Congressional Junk Heap

Washington, July 24 (AP)—A dozen major bills headed for this year's legislative junk heap today as Republican leaders met to agree on terms for adjourning the 80th Congress' first session at the close of Saturday's business.

Barring an upset in plans, the lawmakers will quit then until January 6.

Whether they will adjourn outright subject to recall only by President Truman, or will recess subject to recall by their own leaders was one of the points to be decided. But the sentiment of most party leaders prior to today's strategy huddle (8:30 a. m. E.S.T.) was for outright adjournment.

Plans for the remaining days of the session provide for consideration, primarily of stalemated appropriation bills, the Army-Navy unification measure and some relatively unimportant legislation.

Two men who had been assigned to the milking detail outside the buildings at Walkill Medium Security Prison escaped from the prison farm shortly after midnight today and were still reported at large by prison authorities at noon today.

The men who escaped were William LeClaire, 22, of Jersey City, N. J., who had been sentenced from New York to Sing Sing prison and later was transferred to Walkill, and Joseph Robideau, 23, of Saranac Lake who was sentenced to Clinton State Prison at Dannemora and later was transferred to Walkill prison. LeClaire had been at Walkill nine months and Robideau 10 months. Both men had approximately two years to serve before being eligible for parole.

LeClaire is five feet nine inches tall, light brown hair and blue eyes and weighed about 135 pounds. Robideau was six feet tall, dark hair and weighed about 200 pounds.

Prison authorities said a car was reported stolen from Walden during the night but it is not known whether the theft of the car was associated with the escape.

A teletype message was sent out to State Police and law enforcement officers to be on the lookout for the men. Prison guards were alerted to search for the men.

Forced Out of Jail

Paterson, N. J., July 24 (AP)—Charles Jackson was forced out of jail today because his wife, Judge Milton Schuchman, he found life too easy there. Imprisoned last week on charges of non-support and neglect of his children, Jackson was hailed back into court on the complaint of his wife. "Your honor, the way I figure it he's having a good time in jail now, doing nothing," she said. "It would be more of a punishment for him to have to come out and actually work to support me and the children." The judge agreed. Jackson's punishment, he ruled, would be freedom.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, JULY 24, 1947

PRIMARY DAY

Tuesday, July 29, is Primary Day when enrolled voters will cast their ballots for candidates to run for office at the general election in November. The polls will be open from noon until 9 o'clock in the evening.

At unofficial city and county conventions candidates have been endorsed by city and committees but this endorsement does not constitute nomination. It will be up to people on Tuesday to officially nominate the candidates.

A great many men and women, who fulfill their obligation of citizenship by casting their votes on election day fail to go to the polls on Primary Day.

Although there appears to be little prospect of any contests on Primary Day, enrolled voters should take part in the official nominations.

Candidates will be officially nominated for the offices of sheriff, county commissioner of public welfare and coroner. In the city in addition to the offices of mayor and alderman-at-large, supervisors and aldermen will be nominated. In the towns there also will be nominations for the town offices.

LIBYAN PROBLEM

Writing from Tripoli, John A. Thrale says that the inhabitants of the former Italian North African colony of Libya are anxiously awaiting the committee of Big Four representatives who are to study their plight sometime within the next few months.

The value of this colony lies in its situation on the Mediterranean. It is a farming and grazing country, with no known mineral resources, and its people are nearly all Moslems, with a sprinkling of Italians and Jews. Italy, of course, wants it back as a colony, but all of the Big Four have an interest in the fate of Libya. Great Britain is temporarily supplying a military administration, but such a regime cannot do any sweeping work of reconstruction, and much needs to be done. Under the terms of the Italian peace treaty, this problem must be settled soon.

It will be interesting to see what becomes of this colony, which assumed international importance when Italy was allowed to take it over. Its capture was the first of a series of such depredations which led up to World War II.

BUSINESS MOVES OUT

John Love, a writer on business subjects, says that at present in the state of Ohio, business activity is as great in villages and rural districts as it is in the large cities.

Villages with populations from 800 to 1,500 are sites for branches of large urban companies and of factories making articles of materials native to their regions. Brick plants and potteries, barrelhead factories, furniture factories, milling companies, breweries, plastic plants and tool making outfits are among the industries found in small towns throughout the state. Some are old and of long growth, recently enlarged, but many are new firms, or new branches of established businesses.

For many reasons, this condition is a healthy one. A wider spread of employment is economically more sound than a denser condition. A trend away from large cities brings benefit to employer and employee alike.

LIVING OR DEAD?

Forty-five per cent of Americans, according to the Gallup poll, believe that Hitler is still alive. The British, after careful investigation, concluded that, though his body could not be identified, he must have perished in the conflagration of Berlin. But it makes a more interesting story to think of him as still lurking somewhere, trying to avoid the consequences of his crimes.

A like belief generally crops up when some prominent person dies without his body being found. Germans for centuries believed that their emperor, Frederick Barbarossa, who reputedly was drowned in Syria, would return in the time of Germany's dire need. Lord Kitchener, leader of the British war effort in World War I, was drowned in the ocean north of Scotland in 1916. From then

THE VOICE OF AMERICA

The test of any public relations policy or propaganda is its effectiveness. Great experts can sit about a council table spouting on what should be done, profoundly discussing great plans, or making presentations as they call it. But if it all defeats the intended objectives, the job is badly done, no matter who does it.

For instance, Nelson Rockefeller made a terrific to-do and spent huge amounts of the taxpayers' money on what was sloganized into "The Good Neighbor Policy." The objective of this activity was to make Central and South American countries friendly to the United States. Or was it that? At any rate, we come out of the war with the Argentine and most of the Central and South American countries not a little suspicious of the great American benefactor.

Similarly the OWI was a great government agency to tell the world about the United States. Apparently, it told them everything but that. It convinced the Europeans that Soviet Russia was a democratic and peace-loving country—and the United States paid for that.

When the OWI was abolished, its functions together with some of its personnel were transferred to the State Department. At the head of the enterprise was placed William Benton, formerly of Benton and Bowles, advertising men in New York who handled big accounts. The assumption was that an advertising man, who could by slogans and jingles make the American people chew a particular kind of breakfast food, could by similar devices make the world love America.

Maybe it is an impossible task. Maybe debtors never can love their creditor. Maybe poor and starving nations can never forgive a rich and prosperous nation. The fact is that whatever was that William Benton undertook to do, there is too little evidence that it has been done.

Mr. Benton's job is to win friends for this country in Europe and Asia. He has devised what he calls "The Voice of America," a radio short-wave propaganda program. It seems to get nowhere.

Mr. Benton and the State Department ask for large appropriations for his office on the ground that the Russians spend lots of money. His opponents point to the fact that while there is a powerful pro-Russian party in the United States, including members of Congress, there is no evidence that there is a pro-American party in Russia. The answer to that is either that it cannot be done, then why spend the money, or that it is badly done—then why not change both the method and the personnel?

J. H. Huizinga once made an interesting point about Goebbels. He said:

"His political principals were not afraid to recognize that foreign policy is but the continuation of war by other means. And it was this fundamental intellectual honesty underlying German foreign policy which placed their propagandists in such a favorable position. It allowed them to conduct psychological warfare, where others could only make vague propaganda or, better, information. It freed them from the moral restraints. . . . It enabled them . . . to tell not only whopping big lies but, even more effective propaganda, whopping big truths."

Of course, it is questionable whether Americans want to engage in any such activity or could do it if they tried. We are not good liars. Maybe that is why Archibald MacLellan, Elmer Davis, Nelson Rockefeller and William Benton have failed in a field where lying is so much a part of the job. In fact, among a free people, lying is almost impossible, for someone somewhere will call attention to the lie.

At any rate, the general feeling among the Republicans in Congress is that Benton, like his predecessors, has failed and that he ought to quit or be fired. They generally feel that he has handled his job with that distant look of the great New York executive who leaves details to his juniors, and they do not like his juniors. Congressmen are not Mr. Bushy but it all succinctly when he said: ". . . To defend ourselves we should first of all make a thorough housecleaning and liquidation of the present monstrosity in the State Department. . . . This job needs a thorough study by competent men. That has never been done. (Copyright 1947, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

That Body of Yours

HEART MURMURS

During World War I, as medical officers, we were instructed to reject any recruit with a heart murmur. I fully recognized the fact that many heart murmurs were definite evidence that the recruit had had an attack of rheumatic fever and might have further attacks during military service. However, many murmurs were not caused by any defective or leaking valve. And even where the heart murmurs were caused by a leaking valve, if the heart muscle was strong enough to pump sufficient blood when the individual did hard physical work and no breathlessness resulted, there was no reason why the recruit should not be accepted for military service—even in the front line.

I had in mind our best cross-country runner, winner of the intercollegiate championship, whom I allowed to run because he was able to run the six mile and eight mile races in good condition. I put him in the end of your visit. But now that you're home, and trying to put your thumbs into writing, you're stuck for words.

No need to be. The rules for "bread-and-butter" notes are few and simple. Be prompt. Be sincere. Be appreciative. You might say something like this: "I want to tell you again what a perfectly grand time I had at the farm. All of you were so friendly, I felt right at home. And that square dance I never had so much fun in my life. . . ."

Albany, N. Y., July 24 (AP)—"Preventable" accidents cost 100 lives and injured "as many as 22,000" persons annually on New York state farms, the State Health Department said today. The figures were issued in a National Farm Safety Week message urging a "check on this loss of life and wastage of manpower."

Gov. Dewey previously had proclaimed this week as Farm Safety Week in New York.

Ratification Seems Likely
Rome, July 24 (AP)—Early ratification on the Italian peace treaty by Italy's constituent assembly seemed likely today following a test vote last night. Taft-Hartley Act Is Considered as Having Done Much to Insure Labor-Management Peace

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, July 24—Evidence begins to accumulate that despite the propaganda endeavoring to smear the Taft-Hartley Act, this law has already done, in less than a month, more to insure an era of labor-management peace than any other law ever put on the statute books.

Announcement, for instance, has just been made by the International Association of Machinists that it has sent out instructions to all its local unions forbidding them to call unauthorized strikes.

The machinists used to be affiliated with the A.F.L. and constitute now the biggest single independent union in the country. Their membership is in excess of 600,000. The executive council at an emergency session in Washington took the action and Harvey W. Brown, president, said afterward:

"No matter how technical the violation, or how great the provocation, any strike which appears to violate the language of an agreement between the International Association of Machinists and an employer can make the entire labor union liable for damages."

The text of the official order is even more significant. It says: "In order to protect the membership from the penalties incorporated in the Taft-Hartley Act, the Executive Council hereby instructs the membership of all of its local lodges that, regardless of circumstances, no strikes or stoppages of work must occur in advance of receiving sanction from the Executive Council in accordance with International Association of Machinists laws."

Never even during the war period, was such a drastic form of discipline imposed on local labor unions in this country by an international union, and for the very logical reason—that there never was any penalty of law heretofore for a "wildcat" or unauthorized work stoppage.

Now under the Taft-Hartley law an employer need not reimburse a worker who engages in a wildcat strike. Also damages can be obtained from a union and from individuals who operate in concert to bring about such a work stoppage.

Incidentally, an individual may quit work without penalty at any time but if he persuades anyone else to quit with him he could conceivably be bringing about an unauthorized strike for which the union might be held liable. (Reproduction rights reserved)

CARRIED GUN INTO CAPITOL

Clifton R. H. Spires (right) of Augusta, Ga., was seized in the Senate side of the Capitol in Washington carrying a 22-caliber French pistol in his coat pocket. service regulations," rather than the present patronage appointees who make up the unit.

The Ohlson said he may suggest this at the next session of Congress.

Senator Myers (D-Pa.), a member of the Senate Rules Committee which has jurisdiction over the capitol police, said the group "should give serious thought and consideration" to greater security, but he had no ideas on what could be done.

Senator Ives (R-N.Y.) took a pessimistic view, saying: "If a guy is going to get shot, he'll get it whether he is in 'one place or another.'"

But the New York lawmaker agreed with Bricker that the capitol police should be under civil service.

Ives, Bricker and Myers were unanimously opposed to "frisking" capitol visitors for concealed weapons.

"You couldn't do that in a free country," Ives commented.

The former serviceman arrested yesterday was identified by McGinnis as Clifton R. H. Spires, 39, of Augusta, Ga. He served in the army for 17 months was discharged for a disability and spent some time at a veterans' hospital in Augusta.

He was taken first to a police station and charged with carrying a concealed weapon and then was taken to a Washington hospital for examination, a routine procedure in such cases. McGinnis said the man probably would be held under observation there for 30 days.

Pvt. Lorain Crump of the capitol police noticed Spires in the washroom, he said because the man held something in his hand which flashed.

Crump called Pvt. Paul G. Shelby from the corridor and together they searched Spires after he denied he was carrying a gun. They found a 22 caliber automatic pistol loaded with one good shell.

Another good shell and three apparent misfires were found in Spires' pocket.

Officers quoted Spires as saying he had planned to check the gun during his visit but was uncertain where to deliver it.

Would Freeze Tax

Washington, July 24 (AP)—A House-Senate Conference Committee agreed today to freeze the Social Security payroll tax at one per cent for another two years.

The action broke a deadlock that threatened to bring about a $2,000,000,000 tax increase January 1 through automatic increase in the levy from one per cent to 2.5 per cent against employers' pay and employers' payrolls.

21 Polio Cases Reported

Trenton, N. J., July 24 (AP)—The State Department of Health said today that 21 cases of infantile paralysis cases have been reported in New Jersey since Jan. 1, one more than in the corresponding period last year. The department said the figure is below normal, but pointed out the disease is usually more prevalent in the late summer and early fall.

Dewey Has Day

In Idaho; Luncheon Held in His Honor

En route to Cheyenne, with Dewey, July 24 (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey sped toward Cheyenne, Wyo., today to climax a western trip which colleagues believe greatly strengthened his position as a contender for the 1948 Republican presidential nomination.

The New York governor, his wife and two sons are to be guests of Sen. Edward W. Robertson, Wyoming Republican, at Cheyenne's annual Frontier Days Rodeo today, and tomorrow.

Although no political conferences are scheduled, members of the Dewey party expect the usual parade of influential Republicans to his hotel suite. Dewey's western tour reached the triumphal stage yesterday in Idaho.

At the outskirts of Idaho Falls, Gov. C. A. Robins of Idaho and other G.O.P. leaders from that state, met the New Yorker and escorted him into town in an open car flanked by a sheriff's posse of 40 men astride pinto ponies. He then rode through the city's streets lined with people.

Forty of Idaho's top-rung Republicans held a luncheon for Dewey.

Fifty miles beyond, in Pocatello, the scene was repeated, with slight modifications.

The Republican big-wigs accompanied Dewey to that Democratic stronghold of Idaho and Dewey again made a non-political thank-you speech. A crowd variously estimated at between 1,000 and 2,000 applauded.

The city's Democratic mayor, George Phillips, who introduced the governor, said it was "the most auspicious occasion in the history of Pocatello," a city of approximately 35,000 population. He added that the crowd was "the largest group that ever welcomed anybody" to Pocatello and he called the turnout a great tribute to Dewey.

Erza R. Whittle, G.O.P. national committeeman, from Coeur D'Alene, Idaho, for the last 20 years, and vice chairman of the national committee, told reporters "It looks even better now, for Dewey in Idaho, which will have 11 delegate votes at the 1948 convention."

Whittle was comparing the situation as of yesterday with his assessment of last Saturday at a conference with Dewey near Bozeman, Montana. Then he said "the governor was leading in Idaho, as he is in every state," but that Idaho was making no commitments at present.

Dewey will entrain tomorrow night for Chicago, en route to Owosso, Mich., where he will visit his mother for four days before returning to Albany.

EVERY SO OFTEN, BIGDOME GETS AN URGE TO MOVE THINGS.

So—

FOUR HOURS LATER—JUST LIKE THEY HAD IT IN THE FIRST PLACE—

When a man has a birthday he takes a day off. When a woman has one she takes a year off.

Harper—Poor man! He was ruined by untold wealth.

Carter—Untold wealth?

Harper—Yes, he didn't toll about it on his income tax return.

A thrifty man went to a lawyer for advice. After the interview the man ran into an acquaintance and told him about it.

Friend—But why spend money on a lawyer? When you sat in his office, did you see all the law books there? Well, what he told you you could have read in those law books.

Advice Seeker—You're right, but the lawyer—he knows what page it's on.

Woman in Paris, found guilty of killing her husband's mistress, was sentenced to pay a fine of one franc (one cent) and to serve two years imprisonment, but the latter part of the sentence was suspended. Such a sentence may scare some women from the pastime of stealing other women's husbands.

Grandpa—I miss the old cuspidor since it's gone.

Grandmother—You missed it before—that's why it's gone.

A young clerk was called to the front office.

"Of all my clerks," began the boss, "I notice you seem to be most interested in your work. No hours seem too long for you and you never let the slightest detail escape you."

"Yes, sir," said the clerk with glowing and expectant satisfaction.

"Yes," continued the boss, "and so I am forced to fire you. It is such young men as you who learn here and then go out and start a rival business."

Baran Discusses Insect Control at Rotary Club

Walter Baran, assistant farm bureau agent in Ulster county, discussed the control of bugs and insects that prey on vegetation at the Rotary luncheon-meeting held Wednesday at the Hotel Stayve-sant.

Rotarian Baran also outlined the work being carried on here and described the various methods employed.

An invitation was received from Rotarian Earl Allyn, assistant scout executive of the Ulster-Greene Council, to visit Camp Tri-Mount, the permanent Boy Scout Camp at East Jewett. A delegation will go to the camp next Wednesday.

Super-Duper Has Legal Fight; Super Status Uncertain

Son of Firm's Owner Says He's Good, Father Calls Him Super-Duper Ingrate

Camden, N. J., July 24 (AP)—A 50-year-old ex-G.I. who called himself a "No. 1 super-duper salesman" lost a legal battle to regain his former job in an advertising firm owned by his father.

U. S. District Judge Thomas M. Madden, declining to place "the stigma of ingrate" on the company, dismissed Chester L. Maxwell's suit yesterday after counsel for the father—74-year-old Robert C. Maxwell—termed the son a "No. 1 super-duper ingrate."

Syracuse Must Cut Agencies or Tax City's Residents

Syracuse, N. Y., July 24 (AP)—The city of Syracuse "must accept local taxing powers or face drastic curtailment in all city departments," Mayor Frank J. Costello says.

The mayor issued the statement yesterday following his return from Albany where he attended a meeting of officials of the conference of mayors and state fiscal chiefs on Governor Dewey's controversial local tax program.

Costello said that unless local taxes are imposed, it will be necessary to double up city departmental employees. The curtailment program, he added, would have to be extended to the public school system.

He has proposed a statewide sales tax rather than permissive local taxes to meet increased local government costs.

The local tax program, enacted early this year, permits counties to levy six taxes to meet education expenses. It has been criticized by the Mayors' Conference and upstate Republican leaders.

grate." The younger Maxwell, a resident of Atlantic City, N. J., sought reinstatement under the G.I. Bill of Rights as a commission salesman with the R. C. Maxwell Sheet Poster Advertising Co.

The jurist said the son had been given a job at higher pay following his army service—and then had resigned from it.

"I don't know of any part of the Selective Service and Training Act that says an employer cannot run his own business," Judge Madden asserted. "I find nothing in it that takes away the right of an employer to supervise his employees as he sees fit."

During the seven-day trial, a letter written by the elder Maxwell to his son in November, 1945, was introduced. It referred to Chester as "ungrateful and worthless, and a drunkard who had dissipated several fortunes."

The son's attorney, asking the court to award $3,750 back wages to the younger Maxwell, asserted "when he got out of the army, he was intimidated and treated like

O'Dwyer Accepts Resignation of Justice

New York, July 24 (AP)—Mayor William O'Dwyer, who refused to accede to the demand of striking bus drivers that he dismiss former Supreme Court Justice Isador Wasservogel as chairman of the board arbitrating their wage dispute, announced last night he had accepted Wasservogel's resignation.

nation of last Friday to withdraw from further participation in this dispute, now that the men have returned to work at their insistence," Wasservogel said in his letter of resignation to the mayor.

The strike, called an "outlaw strike" by O'Dwyer, was ended after four days by the drivers. The mayor said he accepted Wasservogel's resignation "with reluctance and regret."

Still to be settled is the driver's demand that hourly basic wages be raised to $1.79 from the present $1.20 paid by Green and $1.13 by Triborough.

on the farm. During the week-end Mr. DeFranco, Mr. and Mrs. John Rust, Mr. and Mrs. Joe DiMarco and father visited them. Mr. and Mrs. Ed Keenan and son, Edward of New York, former summer resident visited with several friends Saturday. Mrs. Elmer Myer's is gaining in health. Mr. and Mrs. Tracey Barley of Flowers of the tea bush are white and slightly fragrant, but are not used commercially.

It's Not So Easy

New York, July 24 (AP)—Polling a recalcitrant rabbit from a narrow slot between two buildings is not so easy as pulling a rabbit out of a hat. But six policemen and an S.P.C.A. agent turned the trick yesterday—after two hours. Pet of Marion Zimmerman, 5, the albino rabbit was snared with a whistler rigged up from a fishpole, bathhook and an old sock proved successful. Brought from its retreat, the rabbit wasn't albino.

Eaker Will Retire From Air Forces To Live in Oregon

General Will Write, Grow Apples at Medford; First Man to Fly on Instruments

By JAMES J. STREIBIG
(Associated Press Aviation Editor)

Washington, July 24 (AP)—Lt. Gen. Ira C. Eaker, who helped the Army Air Forces develop into the mightiest weapon in history, is retiring from the A.A.F. to write and grow apples.

Friends point out, however, that Eaker is not likely to be satisfied for long with this kind of activity at his orchard near Medford, Ore. His unexciting manner belies his spectacular flying career, and he is just 51.

While the general expects to write in support of his thesis that this country needs air power in its up-to-the-minute sense, friends feel that he will want to do more than punch a typewriter in rural Oregon.

What he might do to further the cause of air preparedness probably will be decided after he has taken a long look at things from a vantage point outside the A.A.F.

Eaker was never the bird boy type that gave early flying so much color. He wore leather helmet and leggings when those were standard gear, but while wax-mustached heroes of the joy stick were hangar-flying, Eaker was studying and practicing.

Eaker led the first all-American heavy bomber mission against the Germans while he was organizing the mighty Eighth Air Force, which included all United States air power then based in the British Isles.

After that he went to the Mediterranean as commander in chief of the Allied Air Force. When the Nazis were ready to collapse in April, 1945, he became deputy commander of the A.A.F., a post from which he is now retiring.

Makes First Flight

Eaker made the first transcontinental flight on instruments (so-called "blind flying"), and the first transcontinental non-stop flight with refueling in flight.

He was co-pilot of the "Question Mark" when it set an endurance record of seven days continuous flight in 1932.

He flew the "San Francisco," a single-engine amphibian, on a 20,000-mile goodwill tour around South America in 1926 and 1927. He saved his plane on one occasion by making a dead-stick landing on a small lake in the Andes. A "greasy hands" pilot, he repaired his engine and continued the flight.

He has five decorations (some repeated) from the United States and eight from foreign countries. He has degrees in teaching and journalism, has studied law at three universities. With Gen. H. H. Arnold, he has written three books—"Army Flying," "The Flying Game" and "Winged Warfare."

Eaker doesn't drink, but he plays a game of a poker game.

Oklahoma Claims Him

He was born in Llano, Texas. However, Oklahoma is so proud of the fact that Eaker grew up there that its legislature recently adopted a resolution inviting him to return as a citizen "and make his great abilities available in the further development of his own state."

He is to be honored at a dinner tonight in Oklahoma City.

The "San Francisco" and an engine from the "Question Mark" are displayed in the Smithsonian Institution, but the great monument to Eaker's over-all ability is the record of the Eighth Air Force.

Eaker led that first raid—a dozen of the 20 B-17 flying Fortresses then available—in person, although he was supposed to stay home. The daylight attack was made in the face of British admonitions that it couldn't be done, but not a plane was lost.

Eaker saw the missions grow and grow until more than 1,000 bombers swept across the channel in a single day.

He made the first shuttle bombing raids, in which the Fortresses flew from England to Poland, in the Ukraine. From there he made a brief visit to Moscow.

The general has 30 years' service in the army. He is married but has no children.

Piano Tuners Considered To Be Vanishing Race

Detroit, July 24 (AP)—This country faces a discordant future, if the sour predictions of the American Society of Piano Technicians can be believed.

The society, holding its annual convention here, set forth figures today to show that piano tuners in America are a vanishing race, and spokesmen said that is a bad state of affairs from a musical and psychological standpoint.

At present, reasoned Society Chairman A. V. (Jack) Minefe, there are 16,000,000 out-of-tune pianos in the United States and only 3,000 piano tuners. The workmen average 55 years of age, with very few young men in the business. They can't possibly get around to all the instruments that need attention, Minefe said.

Waves Will Celebrate

The Women's Reserve of the navy will observe its fifth anniversary on July 30. Approximately 500 officers and 2,000 enlisted Waves are now on active duty and have volunteered to remain in the service until July 1, 1948. They are serving in nearly every type of naval activity within the continental limits of the United States.

Sanok Wins Honors

Paramus, N. J., July 24 (AP)—Chester Sanok of Englewood, won individual honors yesterday as the New Jersey State Golf Association recaptured the annual triangular team championship against Westchester and Long Island at Arcola Country Club. The here, was unable to swim.

Jamaica Man Dies

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., July 24 (AP)—John Severino, 18, Jamaica, N. Y., drowned yesterday. Sheriff C. Fred Close said, when he stepped into a deep hole while wading in a creek near here with a party of friends. Close said the youth, who was vacationing with relatives here, was unable to swim.

Two Jews Killed In Gun Battle in Area Near Tel Aviv

Jerusalem, July 24 (AP)—Two Jews were reported killed and one seriously wounded today in a gun battle with Arabs near the Jewish colony of Magdiel, north-east of Tel Aviv.

The Jewish underground's new anti-British campaign continued into its ninth day as Palestinian railways were hit twice in dawn attacks—bombs blasting a line south of Gaza and partially destroying a bridge north of Nantania.

Three British soldiers were slightly hurt by a time bomb in a car park at Haifa, during the night.

Another British soldier died early today of injuries received 48 hours earlier in a road mine blast.

Of the 630 million acres of forest land in the United States, about 462 million acres are classified as commercial timber.

Turn Plentiful Fruits Into Jam

By GAYNOR MADDON

NEA Staff Writer

With plums and peaches both plentiful, and sugar rationing removed, the homemaker's first thought is jams and jellies for her pantry shelf. Here are two sure-fire accurate recipes, the kind that win prizes at state fairs year after year.

Peach and Plum Jam
(Makes about 12 six-ounce glasses)

Four and one-half cups prepared fruit, 7½ cups sugar, 1 bottle fruit pectin.

To prepare the fruit: Peel and pit about 1½ pounds soft ripe peaches. Grind or chop very fine. Pit (do not peel) about 1 pound fully ripe plums. Cut in small pieces and chop. Combine fruits and measure 4½ cups into a very large saucepan.

To make the jam: Add sugar to fruit in saucepan and mix well. Place over high heat, bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard 1 minute, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and at once stir in bottled fruit pectin. Then stir and skim by turns for 5 minutes to cool slightly, to prevent floating fruit. Ladle quickly into glasses. Paraffin at once.

Plum Jam

(Using prune plums)

(Makes about 8 six-ounce glasses)
Three and one-half cups pre-

TOMORROW'S MENUBREAKFAST: Stewed blackberries, ready-to-eat cereal, toasted English muffins, butter or fortified margarine, peach and plum jam, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Grilled sliced tomatoes on toast with melted cheese sauce, rye bread, butter or fortified margarine, blueberries, cream, iced tea, milk.

DINNER: Meat balls with spaghetti in tomato sauce, grated cheese, large bowl of mixed raw vegetables and greens, French dressing, French or Italian bread, watermelon, iced coffee, milk.

pared fruit, 4½ cups sugar, 1 box powdered fruit pectin.

To prepare the fruit: Pit (do not peel) about 2 pounds fully ripe prune plums. Cut in small pieces and chop. Add ¼ cup water; bring to a boil and simmer covered, 5 minutes. Measure 3½ cups into a large saucepan.

To make the jam: Measure sugar and set aside. Place saucepan holding fruit over high heat. Add powdered fruit pectin and stir until mixture comes to a hard boil. At once stir in sugar. Bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard 1 minute, stirring constantly. Remove from heat, skim, ladle quickly into glasses. Paraffin at once.

ULSTER PARK

Ulster Park, July 23—Mr. and Mrs. Holt N. Winfield, Jr. of Haverstraw spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Winfield, Sr.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Walker of Rochester are spending a couple of weeks at their old home here. Preaching service as usual next Sunday at 9:45 a. m., with the pastor, the Rev. Harry E. Christians in charge. This will be the last service for a few weeks while the pastor is on vacation.

Ulster Grange will hold a bazaar, supper and dance at their hall on the afternoon and evening of July 30. If the weather is fair the bazaar and supper will be served outside. Supper served at 6 o'clock. Dancing from 9 until 1 o'clock. Old fashioned and modern dancing to be used for improvements. The next regular meeting of the Grange will be held on August 6 with Huguenot Grange of New Paltz as guests, and they will present the program.

The Officers Association of Ulster County Granges will meet at Plattekill Grange Hall on Wednesday evening, August 13. Officers of all Granges are expected to attend.

Commissioner and Mrs. C. Chester DuMond of Albany spent the week-end with their son and family in Ulster Park.

Experiment Is Near End at Wright Field

Dayton, O., July 24 (AP)—Army Master Sgt. Harold Buffinbarger of Osborn, O., and Corporal Harlan Plummer of High Point, O., human guinea pigs in an Arctic ration kit experiment here at Wright Field, today entered their ninth day in a small chamber where the temperature is a constant 25-degree below zero.

While the aero-medical laboratory sought to learn how the two soldiers fared physically on the rations, Buffinbarger and Plummer were dreaming about the end of their ordeal tomorrow—when they'll get 30-day passes, three days leave time for each of the 10 they devoted to the experiment.

Buffinbarger and Plummer have existed on egg-nog bars, cheese bars, chocolate malted milk bars, gum drops, soluble coffee, bouillon, water, chewing gum and cigarettes. To remain warm they've been garbed in wool sweat suits, wool uniforms, rubber mukluk overshoes, one pair of socks and fur-lined parkas.

In a whimsical mood they scribbled this sign on the walls of their glassed in chamber: "Vacancy, one room for two men, inquire within."

Nobody has.

Martin Is 'Vilified,'Wallander Declares

New York, July 24 (AP)—Police Commissioner Arthur W. Wallander said last night that Assistant Chief Inspector John J. Martin had been "vilified by inference" by Emetia Politzio, former convict and bookmaker, whose allegations of police protection of gamblers led to a current grand jury investigation.

Both Martin and Politzio, also known as Joe Pledge, have testified before the Queens grand jury, which yesterday recessed until next Tuesday.

Wallander said he knew in advance of a visit which Martin made one night last January to Politzio's home and which the latter had spoken of to reporters. The visit, Wallander said, was an official one in connection with a complaint Politzio had made to Mayor William O'Dwyer.

"I do not intend to stand by and see Chief Martin, who has always been an outstanding policeman and real good family man, vilified by inference without saying a word in his behalf," the commissioner said in a statement. "I will not defend any policeman who is guilty of misconduct. On the other hand, I feel it my duty to defend, and to continue to defend, any of my men against whom wanton and malicious accusations are made."

Tournament players do not confine themselves to one or two partners. On the contrary, they will be found with different partners in practically every tournament. As a result, before the start of the game the partners ask a few questions about handling certain situations, such as, "Do you use weak no trumps or strong no trumps?"

One often hears a player ask another, "Do you use Blackwood?" The expert usually will reply, "Only when it is obvious." The Blackwood convention is a valuable asset if it is not overdone, so the expert restricts its use.

When today's hand was played, the North player was Sidney Slodur of Philadelphia, Pa., one of the nation's outstanding players. With his hand some players might be tempted to employ a two-bid, but Slodur preferred to open the bidding with one heart.

When his partner bid two diamonds, Slodur knew that he had at least a trick and a half. If he happened to have any two aces, Slodur was safe for a slam.

Therefore, over two diamonds he used the Blackwood four no-trump bid, and it was quite obvious that it must be an ace-request bid. When South showed his two aces with the bid of five hearts, Slodur bid the small slam in hearts.

President Says He Has Not Made Promise on Controls

Washington, July 24 (AP)—President Truman said today he has not promised to remove controls on installment buying in event Congress does not improve their version.

He has only promised to take action, he said at a news conference when asked about his plans. These controls were imposed originally during the war by a presidential order. They require at least a one-third down payment when an automobile, a refrigerator and some other articles are purchased on the installment plan.

Mr. Truman recently sent Congress a message saying he thought the controls should be continued, but felt that was a matter for Congress. At that time, he said he would take action if Congress did not vote to continue them. He was generally interpreted at the time as meaning he would remove the controls if Congress did not vote to extend them. The Senate has voted for a modified continuation, but the House has opposed.

But when reporters brought up the subject, Mr. Truman carefully pointed out that he had said he would take action. He said that is an entirely different thing. He would not say what he would do until Congress finally disposes of the matter so far as it is concerned, he added.

The questioning went on: "Have you given much consideration to Secretary of Agriculture Anderson's proposal for a world trade organization whereby the government would do their purchasing for grain and supplies for the Marshall plan?"

Mr. Truman replied that is under consideration. "Has it advanced very far?" a reporter asked to know.

The President repeated that Anderson's proposal was under consideration but said that was as far as he could go.

Asked if there is any administrative action he can take to permit entry into the United States of some of Europe's displaced persons, Mr. Truman said no such action is possible. If it were, he said, he would have acted long ago.

As to published reports that Navy Secretary Forrestal will become secretary of defense under the armed services unification, about to receive Congressional sanction, he said he will announce the overall head when he makes a decision.

He repeated that he still has made no definite plans to visit Brazil.

Oakes Says Power Shortage Rumors Are Unwarranted

Rumors of an impending widespread shortage of electric power in the United States were characterized today as unwarranted and untrue by Charles E. Oakes, president of the Edison Electric Institute. "Although the early postwar growth of demand for electricity has exceeded expectations and has narrowed the industry's margin of spare and reserve capacity," declared the utilities executive, "all outstanding demands will be met in 1947 and in the years following."

"The utility industry's tremendous construction program which was started immediately following V-J Day, with an unprecedented total of more than 11 million kilowatts to be installed over the next four years, is now beginning to show results," said Mr. Oakes. About 2 million more kilowatts of capacity will be added during the remainder of this year to the present total of 40½ million kilowatts now in service in electric company generating stations. Another 3,450,000 kilowatts will be installed these companies in 1948, 3,700,000 in 1949, and some two million kilowatts in 1950.

"New industries are continuing to be connected and served by the power companies," said Mr. Oakes. "Nevertheless, the increase of load during the past two months has been somewhat less than the normal increase for this season of the year. Next year," Mr. Oakes predicted, "additional capacity generating capacity will exceed by a considerable margin the expected load growth in nearly all sections of the country. This will be the case to an even greater extent in 1949," he observed.

Aquarium Will Be Demolished

New York, July 24 (AP)—Battery Park's 140-year-old Aquarium building, janky, full of overpopulation, long steeped in historic tradition, lost its long battle to enjoy a crumbling old age today when the city Board of Estimate voted unanimously to administer the coup de grace—demolition.

The board and other city agencies had been toying cautiously with the idea for more than six years, but a hubbub of dissent from civic and historical groups had given the old landmark a long but tenuous reprieve.

Today the board was informed that the Department of Interior had no funds to restore the Aquarium as a national shrine. Promptly board members voted $54,000 to tear it down to make room for approaches to the Brooklyn-Battery vehicular tunnel.

The wreckers won't find any fish there—they were moved in 1941, but the crowbar welders shouldn't be surprised if they encounter a goodly company of ghosts.

Indications are that the United States would agree to a later date if most countries wanted that, but Russia's attitude makes it highly uncertain whether any early conference can be held.

White Plains Chief Heads State Group Of Plans It Will Have More Tests

William Miller Is Chosen Association President

Elmira, N. Y., July 24 (AP)—William Miller of White Plains today was elected president of the New York State Association of Chiefs of Police.

The program of speakers scheduled for the closing session of the annual convention was cancelled because of the death of Utica Police Chief John J. Jones a short time before the meeting was scheduled to convene. However, the prepared addresses were entered in the convention records.

Jones, who had been nominated for the office of second vice-president, was found dead in a washroom of the hotel where he was attending the convention.

The association voted to leave the office of second vice-president vacant for a year in his memory.

Elected were: Walter Kirchoff of New Rochelle, first vice-president; Abe Stern of Pomona, third vice-president; and R. W. Morris of Albany, executive secretary and treasurer.

Martin T. Considine of Niagara Falls, Leroy E. Wike of Endicott and John A. Piekarski of Sloan were named to the board of directors; and Edwin D. Weaver of Elmira and Harry G. Nelson of Jamestown were elected to the law and parliamentary department.

White Plains was selected as the site of the 1948 convention.

Seaway Supporters See Perseverance Paying Dividends

Hot Debate Is in Prospect in Senate; House Defeat Predicted by Observers

By JAMES C. MUNN

A.P. Special Washington Service
Washington, July 24 (AP)—After years of effort, supporters of the St. Lawrence seaway and power project can affirm that perseverance pays off.

They proved the point late last week when a Senate committee finally gave approval to legislation authorizing the vast international development—a controversial issue since its inception, in modern times, more than a half-century ago.

The committee approval, of course, is far from a final victory. Many legislative hurdles yet remain before the project—visualized in more modest form by French and English fur trappers as far back as the early 1700s—becomes a reality.

As matters now stand the Senate Foreign Relations Committee has approved the legislation which provides the new feature that the seaway pay for itself through tolls. Out of deference to the four members of the 13-man committee who oppose the measure, it will not be formally reported to the Senate until next January, when the second session of the 80th Congress begins.

Hot Debate in Prospect
Eventual Senate debate promises to be rough.

Objective observers are agreed that chances are better than even the measure will win Senate approval. Even opposition forces reluctantly concede this.

But the Senate struggle will be as nothing compared to the battle royal that is certain in the House. The observers, who think the measure will pass the Senate, predict defeat in the House.

However, should the bill pass both Houses, President Truman, who long has urged the seaway proposal, is expected to sign it.

Dewey May Be Factor
Thomas E. Dewey, New York's governor and undeclared aspirant for the 1948 Republican presidential nomination, also may be a factor in the situation.

Dewey, too, is a seaway backer. Only last week he reiterated that he favors the proposal.

By next year when the House gets around to debating the issue, Dewey may step up as an odds-on favorite to win the nomination for President.

If this happened his influence on G.O.P. members of the House might be important.

If Dewey pressure aided in House passage of the bill he would be in position to claim a major share of the credit.

That claim could be mighty helpful in his presidential campaign if he wins the nomination. It would endear him to a large part of the Middle West. It wouldn't popularize him in the south, but Republicans still don't figure to win southern votes.

Could Take Final Action
Carrying the hypothetical course of events still further, Dewey if elected president in the election of 1948 would be in a position to insist upon the final act in the St. Lawrence drama—approval of Congressional appropriations for the actual construction, now estimated at around $500,000,000.

It makes a pretty picture—for Dewey.

History would record that, after more than a half century of active effort to make the St. Lawrence vision a reality, one man—Tom Dewey—packed the final punch to make the seaway possible.

It's an intriguing possibility and one that no doubt has occurred to the farsighted New York governor.

Germans Declare Carelessness Cause Of Berlin Blast

Berlin, July 24 (AP)—German police today officially blamed upon "gross carelessness" in the handling of old munitions marked for disposal an explosion which yesterday destroyed part of a police headquarters building in the Russian sector of the city, killed nine persons and injured nine. All the victims were Germans.

Although a British-licensed newspaper suggested there was a possibility that sabotage was responsible for the explosion, police headquarters denied this.

The official newspaper of the Soviet military administration asserted that the explosion was an accident and that "there is nothing to indicate any possibility of sabotage."

Meanwhile, unexploded war munitions still lying in Berlin's ruins continued to cause deaths almost daily.

Within the last 48 hours, police reported, three children were killed playing with hand grenades they found in war damaged buildings.

Claims Damage to Turkeys
Following a complaint by Mrs. W. H. Hothery, 24 Crane street, that someone had been attacking turkeys on her property with a BB gun, the police learned that the air rifle allegedly used belonged to a 10-year-old boy, who said he had found it on a dump. The report said that Mrs. Hothery complained that she had been forced to kill a turkey which had been hit with the BB shot.

Desmond Cites Tendency of Folk To Stay Unmarried

Albany, N. Y., July 24 (AP)—More and more New Yorkers are passing their 65th birthday unmarried.

State Senator Thomas C. Desmond, chairman of the joint legislative committee on problems of the aging, reported today that:

The percentage of bachelors 65 and older has risen from 5.9 per cent in 1900 to 12 per cent. The percentage of elderly spinsters has increased in the same period from 7.9 to 14 per cent.

Previously, Desmond had said that the number of persons over 65 in the state had jumped 298 per cent in the last 40 years. Pointing to a "distinct tendency for an increasing percentage of our old timers to live alone," in single blessedness," the Newburgh Republican noted an increase in the number of divorced persons.

In 1900, he said, there were 308 divorced men over 65, and 164 women, compared with about 2,500 men and 2,000 women today.

The percentage of married women over 65 has dropped from 31.8 to 22 per cent since 1900, he added, while the percentage of elderly married men dropped from 64.8 to 50 per cent.

Desmond estimated there were about 200 New York residents 100 and older, compared to 161 in 1900. Women outnumber men by 2 to 1 in the centenarian group, he said.

In a previous preliminary report, Desmond estimated the number of state residents 65 and older at 1,200,000.

Bulging With Deposits

Centerville, Kas., July 24 (AP)—The once-thriving Centerville State Bank, which was liquidated 15 years ago, again is bulging with deposits—in the form of golden wheat. Lacking granary space A. R. Francis and his son, Raymond, farmers, leased the brick building which once housed a prosperous bank, and have filled it with wheat.

SHOKAN

Shokan, July 23 — Harrison Rose, Woodstock, business man, was a caller in Shokan Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bostock and daughter of Bryn Athyn, Pa., are visiting Mrs. Bostock's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Jones of the mountain road.

Mr. and Mrs. Lionel Friedman of New York are vacationing in one of the H. J. Gebbels bungalows.

Mrs. Denis T. Lynch has arrived at the Lynch summer home near Tice Teneyck Mountain.

Callers in the village Sunday included Mr. and Mrs. George Sicker and daughter, former Ashokan residents. They drove from their home near Prattville to see Mrs. Sicker's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Orville Winchell of Kingston, who were in town to attend the Baptist Church services.

The profusion of morning glory, begonia, geranium and other blooms in the front yard of Mrs. George Sicker attracts much favorable attention from passersby on the old state road.

July 23, 1913—Byron Baker, Hurley lumberman, has invested in a truck and trailer each of which has a hauling capacity of five tons. Mr. Baker, who received the contract to cart away the logs cut in the Ashokan Reservoir taking area, will use the outfit for hauling unusually long timber to the new mill at the Fitch dock in Wilbur which will supplant his old sawmill at Olive Branch.

Joseph Ogden, member of the reservoir maintenance force, is reported to have received his discharge from the Kingston Hospital. Thomas Learey, who was in the same ward with Joe, also has left the hospital and is again at Camp Temerada.

Our Old Timer (who survived the late muggy weather) reports that he hasn't seen a blacksnake this season. O. T. further states that if he doesn't come upon one all summer, it will be all right with him. For while he is not exactly afraid of blacksnakes they nevertheless are ugly looking brutes and sometimes "throw quite a scare into a feller."

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Weisenstein are doing a good business at their newly established bar and grill near the viaduct on the reservoir road.

Robert Sherwood of Highland was a business caller in Shokan Thursday.

Mrs. William Bartholmess is reported to be getting along good at a Kingston hospital. William Jackson, local K.H.S. senior, has vacation time employment at the E. Wiese general store at Ashokan.

Mrs. Stirling Baker and daughter of Kingston are at Camp Temerada along the East Butter-nutkill.

Strange but True: Water from the Schoharie Creek travels to New York city in two directions: part goes north to the Mohawk and east to the Hudson, while other waters find their way west and south through the Shandaken tunnel and Catskill aqueduct. Both cross each other's path at Storm King tunnel but do not mingle this side of New York Harbor. That's the way it looks from here, anyway!

Elmer Forgot One Thing

Detroit, July 24 (AP)—Elmer E. Dugan, 21-year-old prospective bridegroom, thought he had taken care of everything when he appeared with pretty Margaret Traub, 20, to apply for a marriage license yesterday. But he neglected one important item. The couple presented medical papers, birth certificates and identification, and the license clerk administered the oath. Then she asked for the one-dollar fee; and a red-faced Elmer searched in vain through his wallet and pockets until the bride-to-be handed over the bill. "But he'd better not let this become a habit," she told amused onlookers.

C. A. Smiley Is Booked

Arkansas City, Kas., July 24 (AP)—Honesty and his job cost C. A. Smiley two dollars. Pulling away from a curb in his car, he caught himself absent-mindedly running a stoplight the other day. A few minutes later he was on his job as police desk sergeant, booking one C. A. Smiley on the charge.

New York Received Small Part of Fee

New York, July 24 (AP)—Documents indicating that James V. Auditors National Navigation Co. received $50 to $200 a day for berthing a ship at a city-owned pier for which the city was receiving 30 to 70 cents a day were part of the record today at the trial of Auditors and I. James Brody, ousted deputy commissioner of marine and aviation.

Auditors and Brody are on trial on charges of conspiracy and accepting and attempting to accept unlawful fees for subsisting open wharfage piers leased from the city.

Assistant District Attorney Vincent A. G. O'Connor yesterday submitted bills and checks as evidence that the auditors firm received $8,225 from John T. Clark and son for berthing a ship at rates varying from $50 to $200 a day from January 15 to March 10.

Anna P. Brady, wharfage clerk for the Marine and Aviation Department, was called to identify the documents. They indicated that on some days running the period the city was receiving from 30 to 70 cents a day from Auditors firm.

"Clark paid $50 a day and the city got 30 cents—is that right?" "Yes," Miss Brady replied.

Earlier, Edward F. Caulfield, vice president of the Thule Ship Agency, Inc., testified that last December 19, after being advised by the Marine and Aviation Department that no berthing ships was available, he was told by Auditors that he could supply space for $200 a day while the ship was alongside the pier and $100 a day while more than 90 tons of cargo were on the pier.

Hirschberg had discussed with him his marital status, saying he married a Japanese girl in Hong Kong before the war—against navy regulations—and two children by her, and had arranged for her to come to Manila to be near him.

The defense has maintained that this woman was a Filipino.

Hirschberg has an American wife and child in Brooklyn.

Yesterday William R. Hill, 23, a former army private now working as a paint sprayer in Sun Pedro, Calif., testified that he was beaten brutally after his escape attempt was betrayed to Jap guards by "the accused."

ing a high percentage in poor condition for the market.

The heavy rain also had its effect on the resort business in Catskill Mountain boarding houses and hotels, and the usual July rush to the resorts, is believed to be generally far below average for this time of year.

June Rainfall

Rainfall for June was only 3.31 inches as compared to this month to date, but the month had several consecutive days of rain also and incited as much complaints on the weather as this wet July.

The June rain, however, was not as heavy as the same month in 1946 when 4.85 inches fell.

"These clear, cool days at this late date in July brought temporary relief (and let's hope 'temporary' here has some meaning of duration) from weather which has been generally detrimental to the season.

Sunshine, however, ironically brought a marked drop in temperature. The change, according to the city engineer's records, was 11 points downward in two days.

The low for yesterday was 68, and that for today 55.

As for tomorrow, the weather man says warm and sunny. It's to be believed only when seen.

highway junction south of Semarung, had been recaptured by the Republicans.

The Dutch denied the drive on Jogjakarta was halted.

Dutch marines, the communiqué said, have shored off a 2,400-square-mile segment of East Java, overrunning the Bendowoso area, richest rice supply area on the island.

Cut Behind Spearhead

Anlars said Indonesian forces had whipped behind a Dutch spearhead at Salatiga, north of Jogjakarta, and forced the armor-supported Dutch to abandon the burning town and retire 10 miles north to Toentung.

Premier Amir Sjarifoeddin told a news conference in Jogjakarta that the Dutch drives on Jogjakarta and Malang were stopped, at least temporarily, but he said he could not confirm the report of the Dutch withdrawal as far as Toentung.

He said Republicans reoccupied Lawang, 15 miles north of Malang in east central Java and pushed the Dutch back six miles to Soekredo.

The Indonesian scorched earth policy is going well in the Malang area, he said.

Lt. Gen. Siem B. Spoor, commanding the Dutch campaign, said the Indonesians for the most part were in flight. He denied that the Indonesians had retaken Salatiga, insisting Dutch troops remained in the town, which is astride a mountain highway leading to Jogjakarta.

Gen. Spoor said that "the Republican army is mostly running." He reported few prisoners taken but said large quantities of rifles, machineguns, ammunition and supplies had been captured.

No large-scale guerrilla action yet has appeared, the general said, but "mopping up" will be necessary. He declared Indonesian "scorched earth" tactics had been reported from many places.

committee, Mrs. Wilkinson, orthopedic nurse, Sister Bernice, Miss Jessie Allen, and Miss A. N. Porter.

To complete a history of activities against infantile, E. Burr Gibson, state representative, requested an estimate of cases handled in Ulster county during 1945 and 46.

It was reported that polio pamphlets had been distributed among the schools of Ulster and that more would be given out in September.

All registered nurses will be invited to a meeting scheduled for Friday, August 8, to plan for emergency measures in case of a local outbreak during the warm weather, and to find out whether any of them desire to take the special polio course at Jersey City Medical Center.

It was announced that during the summer months approximately $100 was spent for polio victims in Ulster. Shoes, braces and special corsets were purchased and a wheel chair procured.

Plans for the winter campaign will be made at the September meeting in New Paltz and it is urged that each township in the county have a representative there.

J. J. Jones Dies

Elmira, N. Y., July 24 (AP)—John J. Jones, Ulster police chief, died this morning at the Mark Twain Hotel here where he was attending the annual convention of the New York State Association of Chiefs of Police. Jones, about 60, was found dead in a downstairs washroom of the hotel about 10 a. m. The cause of death was not available immediately.

for venereal disease treatments. In May 13 patients were treated and in June 10 were added to the program.

Patients Are Discharged

In June nine patients were discharged from the TB hospital and eight were admitted. There was one death, one transfer to Castle Point Veterans Hospital, one transfer to West Indies, one case apparently healed, two pneumothorax cases who will continue their treatment at the out-patient clinic, two patients were discharged as improved and one patient was discharged as non-tuberculous. Of the eight admissions one was admitted to Homer Folks Hospital at Ontario after a thoracoplasty operation. The other seven admissions were new patients found at clinics.

Due to a breakdown of the portable X-ray equipment activities had to be curtailed so that only three field clinics were scheduled in June. Hospital clinics were maintained and a total of 337 patients were examined, 158 of them being first examinations.

During the month of June two new cases of active tuberculosis were found among the approximately 150 farm workers brought to the county from the West Indies and arrangements have been made to have these workers examined at the hospital.

Lena Hevey, R.N., state nurse assigned to the county is now covering the towns of Rosendale, Rochester and Marlborough on the public health nursing program.

Dental Correction Provided

The State Dental Trailer left Ulster county during the middle of June and prior to that approximately 75 children from Rochester, Olive, Plattekill and Ulster were given dental correction.

During June the seasonal work on children's camps and resort hotels took precedence over routine work of the sanitation department. Sixty-five camp inspections were made in June, completing all inspection of the county's 110 summer camps except four. Fifty-nine complete hotel inspections were made on premises which last year were considered unsatisfactory. Fourteen places of chlorination equipment were ordered installed.

During June the Kingston plumbing inspectors reported eight applications for installations at new buildings and 25 were installed at existing buildings. The Kingston meat inspectors report for the two slaughter houses in Kingston shows 942 beef animals and calves slaughtered. The total condemnations were 39.

Statistical Report

The statistical report shows 13 cases of chickenpox; 99 cases of measles; 13 pertussis; two pneumonia. Over 650 persons were immunized for smallpox in June.

There were 18 cases of cancer reported in June and 21 deaths from the disease.

There were 136 births reported, four still births and the infant mortality shows 3 deaths up to one month of age and 1 from one month to a year.

The total deaths in the county in June, exclusive of stillbirths, were 92. Heart disease accounted for 32; cerebral hemorrhage and apoplexy 14; cancer 21; violence by auto 1 and other causes 7; acute and chronic nephritis 2; diabetes 2.

The customary water inspections were made and 61 visits were made to milk plants for inspections. A total of 187 milk samples were examined of which 137 were found satisfactory.

"We have 415 pairs of skates, shoe and clamp-on style," he advised, "and am ready to cater to capacity audiences."

It is the intention to sell skating equipment at the rink too for those who desire to own their own.

During the winter, there will be special parties arranged, and various features planned that are attractive to those who choose this sport as recreation.

Opening Friday

The grand opening is scheduled for Friday night at 7:30, and from then on 9-W will operate seven days a week, with Saturday and Sunday matinee periods from 2 to 5 p. m.

Mr. Rose, who purchased the rink from Schoenag interests, is a son of William Rose, district manager of Prudential Life Insurance Company, Kingston, and a brother of Irving Rose, owner of the St. James Grocery.

Correct Posture Curbs Fatigue

The correct posture to avoid fatigue while gardening is pictured above. Body weight is evenly distributed on both feet, and back is held straight to permit easy pivoting from the waistline. Hand cream and gloves (inset) protect hands from drying effects of soil.

Straight Back Is Key to Endurance; Gloves Aid Hands

BY ALICIA HART
N.E.A. Staff Writer

Spare yourself the fatigue that comes from gardening by keeping the bend out of your back when you dig and plant.

Sitting straight-backed on the heel of one foot while the other foot is planted firmly on the ground is the way posture experts tell you to tackle your task.

This position, they say, gives you even distribution of body weight; allows free and easy pivoting from the waistline. You can command as wide an area of reach, bending from the waist, as you can slumping over your garden row.

You can move yourself along a garden row in this straight-backed posture without any waste motion. To move for a step's progression, transfer your weight from one foot to the other.

This is the posture control that protects a back from misery. What protects hands from the ravages of gardening is a pair of cotton gloves.

Wear gloves, even if they stifle the poetic rapture that comes from digging into Mother Earth. Soil can rob your skin of oil and wreck your nails. As fast as gloves become earth-soaked they should be washed or the hardened fabric will become a mechanical irritant to hands.

If you'll cream your hands before you put on gloves, you'll thank yourself for this forethought. The cream will give your hands a beauty treatment while you work.

PLACING OF TABLE IMPLEMENTS

A reader asks: "Am I right in placing table silver according to the course? That is, first course furthest from the plate? Also, tell me why an oyster fork should be put on the right when all the other forks are on the left? This seems to be a contradiction."

First course furthest from the plate is right. The reason why the oyster fork is put on the right of the plate is because it is the one fork taken up in the right hand. Correctly, you take the fish knife in your right hand when you pick up the fish fork in the left. You take the meat knife in your right hand at the same time that you take the meat fork in your left. You take your salad knife in your right hand as you take your salad fork in your left. It is true that if you serve an entrée without a knife or if the salad requires none that you then have to reach in front of your plate and take your fork in your right hand.

Dear Mrs. Post: Should I invite my ex-husband to my wedding? We have remained friends but, of course, don't make a point of being in the same group. What about asking members of his family to my wedding?

Answer: If any of the members of his family have remained good friends of yours, you might ask these particular ones. If they would care to come. But certainly this is one occasion when the presence of your ex-husband would be rather shocking to most people.

R.S.V.P. Requires An Answer

Dear Mrs. Post: Is the exaction strict that an invitation to a wedding reception from a distant city be answered? In a case like this where the invitation is undoubtedly sent in courtesy and the absence of the person invited is taken for granted, does a regular answer have to be sent anyway? It seems such a needless formality.

Answer: Although many people are very casual about this observance of courtesy, all invitations that have R.S.V.P. on them should be answered.

Every hostess is proud of fine table linen. Mrs. Post's leaflet, "Table Linen," discusses the use of monograms and also the appropriate cloth for dinner, luncheon or breakfast. Kit Is Career Girl's Friend

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

A career girl's best friend—need is a good grooming kit.

A kit stocked with the essential aids needed for a refurbishing job saves a girl from having to case an office for cosmetics when an unexpected date comes up. Moreover, it offers the wherewithal for making an office drab look fresh and vivid, no matter how willing the weather or how tough her day.

For such needs, a new kit makes its debut stocked with a complete assortment of aids for a "pick-me-up" facial and beguiling make-up job. In addition to cosmetics, there are cleansing tissues, cotton and a nylon comb. All aids are neatly regimented in a box which, complete with mirrored lid, fits into a desk drawer.

Completely outfitted cosmetic kit is a handy and efficient refresher for weary career girl at the end of an office day.

Ervey of all the boys in his neighborhood is five-year-old Gerald Weber, of Cleveland, Ohio. For his recent fifth birthday, his dad, Frank Weber, built him a motored jeep that will go six miles an hour, backward or forward, has an electric horn and tail light that goes on when Gerald pushes the brake. A true five-foot scale model, the jeep is powered with an old Model-T generator, rewired as a motor and goes 60 miles on one charging of its two storage batteries. Above, Gerald drops a nickel in a parking meter while his dad visits auto license bureau.

They Hear Him Calling

A young couple of Chelmsford, England, have solved the problem of an evening out without worrying about baby. They place a "mike" in a baby's crib and connect the flex to the radio in the neighbor's house where they are spending the evening. If baby wakens and howls, mummy hears him over the radio and rushes home.

The only important natural resource in Belgium is coal.

Attorney Bernard A. Culloton represented the defendant in city court this morning.

Sunday Isle Colonized

New Zealand has found some use, at last, for the little Kermadec Islands, northeast of the Dominion, which it has owned for nearly 50 years. They have had few inhabitants, so the government has founded a new little colony on the largest of them—Raoul or Sunday Island—by bringing brown-skinned laborers from Niue Island, 1,000 miles to the north, to tend the orange trees recently planted there. It is hoped the plantation will be a regular supplier of oranges to the New Zealand market a few years from now. Wellington reports.

McKinnon Assault Case Adjourned Until Monday

Hearing on a third degree assault charge against Arthur McKinnon, 24, of 36 Tietjen avenue, was adjourned until July 28 by City Judge Matthew V. Cahill today following a plea of not guilty.

McKinnon was arrested at 6:30 p. m. Wednesday on a warrant executed by Officers Earl Schoonmaker and Grover Hoffay. According to the police, Albert Snyder, 83 Gage street, the complainant, charges that McKinnon struck him on the wrist with a stick and hit him on the head with a stone.

500 Fans Witness Softball Clash; $92.10 Is Raised

More than 500 fans saw the National Division All Stars defeat the American All Stars, 9 to 5, in the Nick Carle softball benefit game yesterday at Hasbrouck Park.

A total of $92.10 was realized for the Central Lunch star who suffered a broken ankle in a league contest a few weeks ago. The collection amounted to $44.60, with four teams donating an additional $10.50. The other 12 squads are donating $32 to bring the total to $92.10.

Joe Enright, who pitched the first five innings received credit for the victory. Enright, Hunt and "Snitz" Houghtaling combined to check the Americans with eight hits and held a 9-1 bulge at the end of eight frames. Don Basch was charged with the loss.

Big guns for the winners were Bill Tierney of Frank's Sport Shop and Tommy Maines, of Fullers, each with three hits. Tierney clouted a double and homer.

The Americans led briefly 1-0 in the third as Ben Toffel tripled with one out and scored on Charlie Brock's single. The Nationals moved ahead 2-1 in the fifth and never relinquished their margin.

Frank Roe tripled to centerfield and scored while Schatzel was committing an error on Ed Nelter's grounder. Nelter raced to third on the relay and scored on a fielder's choice. In the sixth, Tom Coughlin singled home Maines and Tierney with a pair of markers.

Bill Tierney's 300-foot homer in the wake of Joe Mannello's triple and a one-baser by Jim Madden increased the National bulge to 7-1 in the seventh. The final markers crossed the plate in the eighth as Houghtaling doubled, Mannello walked and Maines poked his third safety.

The Americans staged their only offensive burst of the contest in the ninth when they chased across four runs. John Berardi, Joe Fautz, Cliff Davis and Johnny Schatzel contributed singles. Madden tossed in an error and there were two infield outs.

Fielding gems were contributed by Schatzel, Bill Tierney and Owen Ten Broeck.

Neil DuBois of the Central

Lunch managed the victorious National squad, with Jake Goumas and Don Osterhout as coaches. Tommy Lewis was the American skipper with Milly Berardi as his first lieutenant. Players on the two teams were selected by vote of the managers.

Batting: Willard Brown, Browns—got four singles in five times at bat and drove in three runs to lead the Browns to an 8-2 victory over the Yankees.

Pitching: Rube Scarborough, Senators—spaced six hits in pitching a 5-0 victory over Freddy Hutchinson, the Yankees streak-stopper, and the Tigers.

THE MEMORY LINGERS: Memories of the uncanny fielding skill of George "Sugar" Scherger, the old manager, new father, will linger long after odor surrounding his precipitous departure from Kingston has evaporated in the Catskillian hills.

Until Scherger came along, Johnny Gentile, of the late, lamented Reds, was the yardstick by which contemporary second base guardians were rated. Gentile was a lot of second baseman, any way you looked at him. Better, the old timers said, than Matty Deegan, Tommy Davitt and other fabled performers.

The estimates of Gentile, the keystone paragon, were revised sharply, however, when Scherger came on the scene. We saw both at their peak and if we had to make the choice, it would be Scherger. There was little to choose between the two on straightaway grounders or going to the left. When it came to making that back breaking play deep behind second, "Sugar" was in a class by himself.

A Great Play
Scherger made one of the greatest fielding plays we have seen in 15 years of baseball reporting. In a contest against Nyack, we noticed the Kingston skipper playing Emil Schwob, Jr., Rockland second baseman, about 5 feet left and 20 feet behind second. Perhaps few fans noticed the unusual defensive maneuver by Scherger.

Schwob is a notorious "banjo hitter" and his specialty is plunking singles just over second base. Dugout denizens call them "humpback liners." On the second pitch, Schwob swung and connected. Scherger got the jump on the ball as he raced at full speed toward left center field, stuck out his glove and made a backhand stab of a sinking line that would have fallen safely ninety nine times out of a hundred. If Schwob plays until he's a hundred, he'll never get robbed as brazenly as that.

Flotsam and Jetsam
Carl "Butch" Sawatski, with 21 round trippers, hasn't come even close at municipal stadium. . . . Of 51 games played in the friendly confines of Elbets Field, the Dodgers have won 36 and lost 15 for a .706 percentage, 110 points over their overall record. . . . In comparison, the Cards show a .615 home record with 24 won and 15 lost. The Braves have a 30-19 record for .612 and the Giants boast a .596 figure for 28 wins and 19 losses. . . . The Brooks it would seem just love to be at home, especially when the Giants show up.

The Nineteenth Hole
Ray Billows, the six-time New York state amateur champion, retained his Dutchess County Club title with a 4 and 3 victory over Hammerlin Hank Kowal, former Indiana state kingpin. . . . Billows fired seven birdies on the 32 holes. . . . Arvo, who was golfing, rooting hard for Mrs. Clarence T. Von of Woodstock, in the state women's championships. . . . Wes Westrum, ex-Recreation catcher, a clutch to come up with the Giants in 1948. (Just slipped that one in to confuse you golfers). . . . The season's second "Saturday-at-Golf" for Hudson River Golf Assoc. on golfers scheduled Saturday at the Out O'Rounds Aero and Golf Club, Suffern, N. Y. . . . That "baby sitter" is taking quite a roasting from his colleagues. . . . "Budd" Clotton will top his senseless pursuit of the flat cap long enough to whip the Hudson Valley putting stars into shape for the August 19 classic against the Brooklyn Against the World nine. . . . Most disgusted golfer of the season: Dr. Saul Goldfarb. . . . Shooting his weight these days.

OF Letters and Grips
The following communique from "The Members of Union Hose Co. Softball Team" is presented without the usual footnotes. "There seemed to be a slight (?) error in the July 16 report probably due to the fact that details of the Cordis-Union Hose softball game were submitted by Ray Radel of Cordis Hose. The correct score of the second game was 14-10 in favor of Union Hose, not 14-10 as reported. The statement that Cordis Hose won the second game by putting in their 'old men' wasn't true, either, as the only man anywhere near 60 as claimed was Harry Williams. . . . 'The truth of the matter was Cordis' regulars were so worn out after the first game, they were physically unable to play the second contest when sure defeat was imminent and they were forced to put in a fresh team. Even so, the Union regulars easily ran up 14 runs and took it easy for the remainder of the contest. We are only sorry we had no interest of accuracy in reporting. . . . The communication concludes with the inevitable challenge for "a quarter of brew," whatever that is.

MULLIGAN MIKE SAYS: The American way of life is still safe and sound when fellows get that steamed up over a half of brew and a softball game.

Po'keepsie Grips Tighter on First In Colonial Loop

(By The Associated Press)

The Poughkeepsie Giants slightly improved their hold on first place in the Colonial Baseball League last night with a 10 to 8 victory over the Stamford Bombers while Watervliet, Poughkeepsie's greatest threat, split a pair of games with the cellar dwelling Port Chester Clippers.

The New London Raiders and Bridgeport maintained their respective places in the standings as they, too, split a twin bill at New London.

The Giants had to work hard for their victory even though Stamford helped them with eight errors and didn't get a man past first until the sixth inning while Poughkeepsie was piling up a seven-run lead. A three-run rally in the sixth inning and a five-run outburst in the eighth put the Bombers back in the game.

The relief pitching of Tom Villania, who allowed only one hit in five and a fraction innings, was of material aid in Bridgeport's 3-2 win over New London. Tom Todtke tossed a fine pitching job right back at Bridgeport in the second contest, won by New London 7-4. After giving up four hits in the first three innings, he settled down and allowed only one other safety the rest of the way.

Bill Sahlin of Port Chester took pitcher honors at Watervliet, allowing only four hits in the second game which his team won 3 to 1. Watervliet's 10-2 victory in the seven-inning opener marked Al Yallich's seventh pitching triumph of the season.

Cec Brunetto, owner of the Bridgeport club, has announced he plans to hold a conference at Port Chester tonight with Joe Cambria, Washington Senators' farm system director, about the possibility of obtaining several new players. Bridgeport's already shaky mound unit was depleted further this week when Jack Estes underwent an appendicitis operation. He is reported out for the balance of the season.

Kiner Smashes 25th Homer, Only Three Away From Mize

By JOE REICHLER (Associated Press Sports Writer)

Ralph Kiner, who represents one of the few bright spots in the Pittsburgh Pirates' dismal doings this season, today had realized one of his three main ambitions and stood a fairly good chance to achieve the other two.

The hard hitting Bucco outfielder, who during spring training announced he was out to lead the National League in home runs and runs batted in as well as set a new Pirate homer mark, walloped his 24th and 25th four bagger of the campaign last night to break the Pittsburgh record held jointly by himself and Johnny Rizzo. Rizzo had smashed 23 round trippers in 1938 and Ralph duplicated the feat last year.

Kiner now is only three homers behind Johnny Mize of the New York Giants who leads both majors with 28. He also is in the running for R.B.I. honors, having sent 67 runners over the plate to rank fourth behind New York's trio of Willard Marshall (75), Mize (73) and Walker Cooper (71).

Bats in Four
The 24-year-old sophomore slugger from Santa Rita, New Mexico, batted in four runs last night to lead the Pirates to a 6-2 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies. The win moved the Pirates to within a half game of seventh place.

Sign of an impending stretch fight for the National League flag between Brooklyn and St. Louis became more evident when both the Dodgers and Cardinals won their games, the Dodgers defeating the Reds at Cincinnati 5-2 and the Cards nipping the New York Giants in St. Louis 6-1.

Tied at 2-2 at the end of seven innings, the Brooks got out front when Eddie Miksis singled in Carl Furillo in the eighth inning. They added two more in the ninth.

Cards Top Giants
The "never say die" St. Louis Cardinals rallied for four runs in the bottom half of the ninth to come from behind and top the Giants. In whipping the New Yorkers for the eighth time in the last 10 meetings, the Cards showed the Giants into third place and advanced to within a half game of the berth.

The runner-up Boston Braves remained five games behind the Dodgers by thrashing the Cubs in Chicago 12-4.

Lanky Ellis Kinder allowed only six hits and Willard Brown cracked for four singles in the line-up at bat to lead the last place St. Louis Browns to an 8-2 victory over the American League leading New York Yankees at the Yankee Stadium. Brown drove in three runs.

Senators Win 5-0
The Detroit Tigers lost a fine opportunity to whittle a game off the Yankees' 10 1/2 game margin when they were shut out by the Washington Senators 5-0. Rube Scarborough scattered six hits for his first win; Freddy Hutchinson, who snapped the Yankees' 19-game winning streak last Friday, was banged for eight hits to suffer his fourth defeat. He has won eight.

The Boston Red Sox went 14 innings before finally besting the Chicago White Sox 8-7 in a night game at Fenway Park. A perfectly executed squeeze bunt by Don Gettender with the bases loaded and one out sent in the winning run.

A three-run homer by Eddie Joost in the sixth inning provided the Philadelphia Athletics with a 6-3 victory over the Cleveland Indians in a night game at Philadelphia. In a battle between two no-run, no-hit pitchers, Dick Fowler bested Don Black to gain his seventh win.

Kaufman to Pitch For Hofbrau Tonight

Bill Kaufman, young Saugerties pitching ace who was a member of the Williams College varsity this season, will make his City League debut this evening, when Hofbrau meets Seven-Up. Kaufman earned a great reputation with the Saugerties town team before entering Williams College. He is a right hander. Harry Secreto is the 7-Up choice.

Win Gives Outside Chance to Victors For 4th Position

Big innings continued in fashion in the City Baseball League yesterday, when Boulevard Gulf kept alive its hopes for a playoff berth with a 7-run barrage in the second stanza and a decisive 11-1 triumph over Chez Emile.

The victory was the Gulfmen's fourth in seven starts and leaves them with an outside chance to win or tie for the fourth position in the Shaughnessy playoffs.

Big Al Gruner authored a neat four-hitter for his second decision in three starts as he subdued the once high-riding Chez Emile swingers. He fanned 5 batters and did not permit a safety until the fifth when a Chez Emile base runner was hit by a batted ball. As in Morgan's big inning the night before, errors figured prominently in Boulevard's second inning uprisings. "Fink" McElrath couldn't find the plate in the crucial moments and walked five batters before he was lifted in favor of Joe Jordan, a young southpaw who turned in a sensational stint of relief hurling.

Jordan Fans 11

Jordan, relieving McElrath with two out in the second, struck out 11 batters. The portlander fanned the side in the fourth, struck out three more in the sixth and got two in the seventh.

Bill Glaser was safe on an error to launch Boulevard's victory march. After Mike Rienzo singled, Charlie Lay and Jimmy Turk walked. Big Joe Mahar fanned but the scoring parade continued when George Glaser walked and Gruner sacrificed. Batting around Turk and Lay walked for the second time. Seven runs in, Jordan came in to whiff Mahar for the second time during the frame.

A quartet of Boulevard allies in the sixth bore the trademark of legitimacy. Doubles by Rienzo and Forte, Bill Glaser's stroll and Charlie Lay's single were the principal ingredients. Rienzo and Forte led the Boulevard hitters with two safeties each.

Mrs. Voss Enters Third Round in Tuckahoe Golf

Tuckahoe, N. Y., July 24 (AP)—Having found her putting stroke again, Mrs. Ruth Torgerson of Garden City, N. Y., is favored to repeat in the New York State Women's Golf Championship which enters its third round today.

The defending champion, normally as steady as a golf club, came, lost her technique on the greens just nine weeks ago, when she was put out in the Long Island Women's Tournament. Since then, she has finished as just another starter in Sunday one-day events.

But the Cherry Valley golfer has apparently regained the secret of her former successes and is breezing right along in the state tour which opened at the Leeward Club on Monday.

After winning the medal with a nicely-scored 80, she took her first round match from Betty Mann of Willow Brook by 7 and 6, and followed yesterday by defeating Mrs. Fred Wright of Tuckahoe, 4 and 4.

Mrs. Torgerson was out yesterday in 39, three over women's par, to Mrs. Wright's 43 and led, 4 up, at the turn. Mrs. Torgerson won the tenth hole in one-over-par 5 to go 50 up, and they halved the next five holes to go 60 up.

In the upper half of the third round today, Mrs. Torgerson meets Mrs. Charles Leitchner of Baldwin, who yesterday defeated Hilda Gilligan of Plandome, 2 and 1.

The other upper half match pits Mrs. J. E. Harding of Locust Valley against Mrs. Arthur Atkinson, her clubmate. Mrs. Harding advanced yesterday by taking her second round match from Mrs. Ruth May of Baldwin, 1 up, while Mrs. Atkinson defeated Mrs. Sophie Untermyer of Purchase on the same terms.

In today's lower half, Mrs. Edw. Longcope of Buffalo meets Miss Alice Swanson of Syracuse, while Mrs. C. T. Voss of Woodstock is paired with Miss Ann Winslow, Frankfurt, N. Y., physical education teacher.

Mrs. Longcope won her second round match from Peggy Mackie, Inwood, 6 and 5, while Miss Swanson defeated Mrs. J. K. Hall of Elmira, 3 and 2.

Mrs. Harry McNaughton, Hewlett Harbor, 3 and 2. And Miss Winslow advanced to the third round by a 4 and 3 triumph over Mrs. Edna Dauchy of Poughkeepsie.

Kingston Wins Two Games at Mahanoy, Nyack Here 8:30

The Kingston Dodgers fortified themselves for tonight's game at the municipal stadium with Nyack by taking both ends of a doubleheader, Wednesday, at Mahanoy City, Pa.

In the curtain raiser Kingston won 3-1 and took the nightcap by 13-7.

With 1,200 fans in the stands, the opening contest was a scoreless tie until the seventh inning. Kingston broke down for three runs in the first half, and Mahanoy registered its lone tally in the last of the same frame.

It was 5-5 in the eighth inning of the second game when Wiley Williams tripled to deep center, scoring three runs which put Kingston in the lead 8-5. Kingston held its winning edge for the rest of the contest, strengthening its hold on first place in the North Atlantic League.

Dun Bennett pitched the first game for Kingston, and Harry Hintz the second.

Nyack is scheduled at the stadium tonight at 8:30 and will play a doubleheader tomorrow at the uptown ballpark.

In single contests last night, according to the Associated Press, Stroudsburg defeated Nyack 2-1; Nazareth trounced Peekskill 9-3 and Carbondale edged Bloomingdale 7-6.

Maverick Players' Production Proves Tops in 'Our Town'

Woodstock, July 24—For the first time in many years, not a vacant seat could be found at the Maverick Theatre, when last night the Maverick Players gave their splendid opening performance of 'Our Town' for the benefit of the Woodstock Girl Scouts. The play was most ably directed by Leonard Hoed, of New York.

Not only was it a full house, but a house full of people many of whom were seeing the Maverick Players for the first time and who were enthusiastic about the skilled performance given by every one in the large cast of 18 characters required for 'Our Town.'

Fred Sadoff played the role of the Stage Manager in an easy, able manner.

Eloise Iliff, playing her first leading role with the Maverick Players, was very impressive as Emily Webb.

Dr. Gibbs depicted by William Major, Mrs. Gibbs by Jeanne Jerrens, Mrs. Webb by Priscilla Arlison, Mr. Webb, James Doonan, were very real in their characterizations of some of the townspeople.

In the role of Mrs. Soames, Terry Greene showed real ability in handling a character part, an opportunity she had not had previously.

Ernest Yacovino did a good job as Joe Stoddard.

Other supporting roles were competently handled by William Faler as Joe Crowell, David Banks as Howie Newman, Judy Small as Rebecca Gibbs, George Brink as Wally Webb, Harding Lemay as Simon Stimson, Lee Marvin as Constable Warren, Michael Manor and Sam Craig.

Abelst Juvenile
The performance of Kenneth Paine as George Gibbs confirms the fact that he is the ablest juvenile seen in Woodstock in several seasons. Last night's natural portrayal of a normal American youth followed a similar role played last week in Mr. Jim Passes By.

Our Town has all the situations to be found in any small town. It is a realistic story of neighbors sharing each other's joys and sorrows over the years. No scenery is used for this imaginative play by Thornton Wilder but at the Maverick Theatre the rustic wall at the back of the stage, appropriately served for the usual back drop.

Our Town will continue at the Maverick Theatre through Sunday of this week.—P. H.

Girl Scouts Work Hard for Library

Woodstock, July 24—Attention these days is being centered on the Girl Scouts in Woodstock who are giving up their riding, swimming and picnicking these vacation days to make their contribution to the success of the Library Fair which will be held on Thursday afternoon, July 21st, from two until six o'clock on the Library Green.

Mrs. John McClellan, leader of the senior scouts, assisted by Scout Linda Lilly, has enlisted the aid of Boyana Thaya, Letha Thayer, Judy Wagener, Anne Middendorf, Edith Lorente de No, Janet Bersin, Kathleen Hung, Emily Holmizer, Audrey Webb, Joann Mower, Jane Neher, Bonnie Ezan, Ruth Cohn, Patricia West, Patricia Shultis, Ann Wohlfahrt, and Noel Thomas.

These young people take turns at the collection center in the Woodstock school house each day where they receive and sort the donations brought there for the Library Fair.

The collection center is open from 10 until noon and from 2 until five o'clock in the afternoon.

Discussion Is Held At Woodstock Gallery
Woodstock, July 24—Arnold Blanch was moderator last night when Charles Staple, Howard Fussner and William Tarr, students at the Art Students League in New York City, gave a lecture on the collection center in the Woodstock school house each day where they receive and sort the donations brought there for the Library Fair.

Approval Is Given For Navy Personnel To Enter Olympics

By Peg Hard

Secretary of the Navy James Forrestal has approved plans which will give navy personnel an opportunity to compete for places on the team which will represent the United States in the 1948 Olympic Games.

The Navy Olympic Games Committee, headed by Captain Thomas J. Hamilton, U. S. N., head football coach at the U. S. Naval Academy, will select outstanding athletes from the navy at large. These contestants will then represent the Navy at the Olympic Games.

Miss Kathryn Cumisky of Marlborough is visiting her aunt, Miss Jane McHugh and her uncle, John McHugh.

We are progressing on the excavation for the cellar of Joe Kravick's new home on the former Howard Hasbrouck lot on Eltinge avenue.

A fair and bazaar will be held on Friday and Saturday, August 22 and 23 at St. Joseph's Center under the auspices of St. Joseph's Catholic Church. Margaret Cragan is general chairman and will be assisted by Mrs. Laurence P. Gaffney, Mrs. Laurence FitzGibbon, Mrs. Tuozzo, Mrs. Daniel Gaffney, Mr. and Mrs. William Shea, Mrs. Giles Randall, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Van Gonsie, Mrs. Irving Millham, Margaret Adams, George Adams, Mr. and Mrs. James Sheerin, Mrs. George Branca, Mrs. J. J. Dodd, Mrs. John Dodd, Mrs. Harry McKelvey, Mrs. Nellie Tizio, Mrs. Marion Ackert and Margaret Glancy.

George Wicks and family are entertaining their cousins, Marie and Jean Guarino of Mount Vernon.

Miss Helen Linacre is hostess of the team on Mountain Rest for the summer.

Mrs. Anna H. Powell, 62 Clark avenue, Ocean Grove, N. J., recently entertained at dinner the following guests from New Paltz: Mrs. Daisy Tamney, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Tamney and son Stephen, Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Lyons. The occasion was a celebration of the wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Tamney and Mr. and Mrs. Lyons.
